Christian Symbols Copyright

All of our patterns are registered with the US Copyright Office. As legal holders of these copyrights, we retain exclusive rights to:

- Reproduce the work in photocopies (photos or copies)
- Distribute the patterns to the public by sale or any other form of transfer.
- Teach or display the patterns publicly (including websites, brochures or video)

Under no circumstance is it acceptable for anyone to package and sell our patterns into kit form.

What this means is that to teach classes pertaining to the Christian Symbols, one must have written permission from Rufty's Chrismon Shop.

For those teaching classes to their home church congregation, we will generally approve. We will not approve if our patterns are to be distributed unless each pattern has been packed and sold as a kit from Rufty's.

Written permission may be obtained only after individuals have signed a release stating the terms of such an agreement. Those found to be in violation of the guidelines set forth by the US Copyright Office will be reported to the appropriate federal authorities.
